

A Letter from Allen Porter, Tanknology CEO

I am reaching out today to confirm to you, our valued client, our commitment to the health and safety of our employees and yours, during the ongoing coronavirus situation. While this remains an ongoing development, as an essential service provider, Tanknology will continue to be your compliance and testing expert during this uncertain time.

Like many of you, we are closely monitoring the spread and impact of the coronavirus. This is first and foremost a health crisis, and our thoughts go out to those who have been directly affected by the virus and to the health care workers who are on the front lines in managing it. As a national company operating in all 50 states, we're taking all necessary measures to protect our customers, employees and business.

We've tweaked our logistics, transportation and the way we work. We're providing a vital service to people everywhere and we understand that people, communities and the environment are depending on us. No matter the need, we are here for you, our valued clients.

There is no instruction manual for how to feel at a time like this, and I know this causes stress for everyone. My list of worries right now — like yours I'm sure — is long: from my children, parents, family, friends, to the safety our colleagues and to the harm that will be caused by the economic fallout.

Please take care of yourselves and your loved ones. I know that we're going to get through this, together.
